URGES COUNTIES TO "WRITE OFF" SPECIAL DEBTS

State Tax Expert Submits Idea To Legislative Commission
LATTER TO POLL COUNTY AUDITORS
Total of $268,877 Charges To Property Owners In Columbiana

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Oct. 5.—A recommendation that county officials "write off" as a bad debt part of the $80,000,000 owed by Ohio property owners in delinquent special assessments caused members of a special legislative commission to scratch their heads today.
The proposal came from Ferd Becker, state tax commission expert on county financial affairs.
Poll County Auditors
The commission, charged with devising methods for a greater collection of the more than $195,000,000 in delinquent taxes—both special assessment and general property—is polling the county auditors for opinions and figures.
Becker's idea is that it would be better for county officials to pare down the special assessment debt and encourage property owners to pay a larger share of it than for the taxpayers as a whole to continue carrying the major portion.
The special assessments, levied on abutting property for street paving and installation of sewerage systems principally, have been piling up for years.
In many instances the assessments far exceed the value of the property and constitute a drag on the real estate market. Prospective builders are loath to buy a lot when they have to pay additional assessments.
Becker proposed that the assessments be revised to represent the extent to which they increased the property market value. This would be done by a committee appointed by the common pleas court.
The counties and municipalities, through bond issues, are required to pay for the assessments, regardless of whether the property owner reimburses them. And the Ohio supreme court has ruled that these bonds must receive first attention.
Many Have Refunded
Numerous cities and counties have refunded their special assessment bond issues. This entails an additional outlay of funds for interest.
While tax delinquent property may be sold by a county or city at foreclosure, tax experts say, purchasers often are scarce because Constitutionality of the appointment of Justice Hugo L. Black to the U. S. supreme court was challenged at the first 1937-38 session of the court by Albert Levitt, shown above as he left the court building. After announcing the appointment of Black, and stating that he had already taken the oath of office, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes accepted Levitt's petition and said it would be taken under advisement.

REPAIR NEEDS ARE OUTLINED

School Board's Attention Called To Aging Equipment

The board of education transacted routine business Monday night, approving bills totaling $7,936, which included the teachers' payroll and purchase of new text books.
The board heard Supt. E. S. Kerr's report that the high school building has reached the age where some of the original equipment must be repaired or replaced from time to time.
Recently the stage border lights, which collapsed, had to be replaced. Pipe and plumbing fixtures about the building have been repaired. Window sash and cords must be replaced, he added.
Supt. Kerr also reported carpentry work had been completed to effect a means of darkening the high school auditorium for showing slides and movie films.
The board discussed tentatively plans for publicizing the three-mill levy for school operating expenses which comes before the voters on Nov. 2.
The issue is up for renewal, having been voted upon favorably five years ago. The necessity of the levy passing at the coming election is made more urgent by the failure of the school district's cash income from the sales tax to equal last year's total, the superintendent explained.
The board also approved officially the appointment of Miss Frances Markovich as school nurse.

Favor Farm Program

LISBON, Oct. 5.—In a referendum vote, county potato growers asked to have their activities included in the agricultural extension program for 1938.
The vote, very light, was determined in a series of four meetings held recently in various parts of the county. Growers were notified, by letter, of the meetings.

N. Benton Pastor Will Be Installed At Service Friday

Rev. Robert J. Topping, who has been supplying the pulpit of the Presbyterian church in North Benton since the first of June, will be formally installed on Friday evening.
The installation ceremony will be preceded by a congregational fellowship supper served in the church dining room at 7 o'clock.
At 8 p. m. the congregation will assemble in the church auditorium for the installation program, which will be presided over by Rev. Raymond D. Walter, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Salem.
Rev. James Gillespie, pastor of the Sebring Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon. Rev. Boyd G. Cabbage, pastor of the Kinsman Presbyterian church and former pastor of the North Benton church, will charge the congregation and Rev. Chancy Case of Alliance, stated clerk of the Mahoning Presbytery, will charge the pastor.
Rev. Topping formerly held charges at Independence, Pa., Swandale and Charleston, W. Va., and at one time was director of young people's work in the First Presbyterian church of Davenport, Iowa. His first assignment after graduation from the seminary was in home mission work in the coal fields of southern West Virginia.
Rev. Topping's present charge also includes that of the Presbyterian church of Leetonia. He was formally installed as pastor there on Sept. 24.

ATTACK GROCER AT YOUNGSTOWN

Three Youths Flee With $16 After Beating Aged Store Proprietor Last Night

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 5.—In plain view of a street full of rushing motorists, three youths early last evening robbed and beat a 62-year-old grocery store proprietor and escaped in a waiting car.
Jacob Friedkin, the proprietor, was knocked on the head with a gun butt when he became excited as two of the youths ransacked his pockets and took $100 in cash. The third youth stood by the door.
Friedkin described the robbers as being about 20 and unmasked.
Several persons on the sidewalk nearby saw the trio flee and obtained the license number of the holdup car.
At the same time an authoritative source said that reelection of the Rt. Rev. James Dewolf Perry, presiding bishop for the last seven years, may hinge upon the proposal to set up a primate, or archbishop.

If the convention, which is the church's supreme legislative body, sets up the office of archbishop, several members of the house of bishops may seek the position. If the presiding bishop's status is not changed, Bishop Perry, who also heads the diocese of Rhode Island, is considered likely to be reelected for another six-year term, this source declared.
Many of the approximately 775 persons constituting the house of bishops and the house of clerical and lay deputies are agreed that a change in the church's administrative set-up is necessary, but are divided over what the change should be.

COURT TO HEAR CRIMINAL CASES

Thursday Is Arraignment Day On Grand Jury Indictments

LISBON, Oct. 5.—Prosecutor Karl Stouffer announced today that Thursday will be arraignment day for grand jury cases.
Meanwhile the jurors continued their investigation of gambling activities in the county, expecting to report in the near future.
The scope of the quiz extended to Salem and Wellsville yesterday as new witnesses were questioned by the grand jury.
Justice of the Peace William Rich, Jr., of Salem was called to tell what he knew of gambling activities in Salem.
Ralph Kelly of Wellsville was brought before Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones Monday afternoon after he had declined to answer questions in the grand jury room. He told the court he had refused information requested from him on constitutional grounds.
Judge Lones told him he need not incriminate himself, said the grand jury could not indict a witness on testimony given by the witness to return to the grand jury room and to answer all questions to the best of his ability.

Lisbon's Council Enacts Refunder

LISBON, Oct. 5.—Village council by legislative action Monday night took final steps toward refunding bonds worth $26,000.
Lisbon has paid off $9,000 in maturing bonds, bringing the village's bonded indebtedness down to $52,000, the lowest it has been in 30 years.
The councilmen last night also approved the grading of sidewalk on the east side of Beaver st., from Chestnut to Market sts.

Hunt Auto Thieves

LISBON, Oct. 5.—Boys were blamed for breaking into six automobiles and garages here yesterday.
The cars molested were those of John Vogan, Allice Armstrong, Phil Bigle, W. H. Hepburn, J. F. Steele and H. E. Marsden. The thieves forced open the auto windows to steal minor articles.
State Patrolman R. M. Perry of Salem photographed several of the cars for fingerprints.

The examiner recently announced that reports were to be filed this week, but, he said today, instructions received subsequently to that announcement are to the contrary.
As a result, he pointed out, vendors will disregard the former notice.

DEBATE CHURCH PRIMATE PLAN

Protestant Episcopal Approach Important Decision

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States approached today an important decision on the creation of a primate, comparable to the Archbishop of Canterbury in the parent church of England.
This proposal, prompted largely by dissatisfaction over the overlapping of duties in the present dual church leadership, developed as perhaps the most vital business of its 52nd triennial general convention, opening tomorrow.
At the same time an authoritative source said that reelection of the Rt. Rev. James Dewolf Perry, presiding bishop for the last seven years, may hinge upon the proposal to set up a primate, or archbishop.

RAKESTRAW IS LEGION LEADER

New Commander, Other Officers Are Named By Post

Virgil Rakestraw was elected commander of Charles H. Carey post No. 56, American Legion, at the annual business meeting of the post Monday night. He succeeds H. E. Zepernick.
Ernest Monks, a nominee for the commandiership, was elected first vice commander, while Herbert Fischer was named second vice commander.
Everett J. Rich, former commander of the county Legion council, was elected finance officer, and Harry Goldy was named to replace Fred Smith as alternate to the county council.
John C. Littly was re-elected trustee for a three-year term. Harold F. Wyckoff was named trustee for two years. Fred Ludington is the third trustee.
The officers will be installed on Oct. 18.
The meeting last night, held in the post home, was attended by 50 Legionnaires, one of the largest turnouts for a meeting in the past year.
Goldy, a retired U. S. naval officer, will speak at a meeting of the county council tonight in Wellsville.
The Wellsville post agreed to advance the date of the council rally from Friday to Wednesday to allow the Salem Legionnaires to devote their time Friday to the annual Fall Festival here.

PATROL CHANGE HERE RUMORED

Corp. F. S. Van Allen May Be Transferred To Massillon

A change in the personnel of the Salem state highway patrol sub-station was rumored today.
Corp. F. S. Van Allen, fingerprint and photography expert and head of the local barracks, is now at Massillon where he is supervising photography in connection with the recent slaying of State Patrolman George Conn, a member of the New Philadelphia sub-station.
To Corp. Van Allen goes the task of making enough pictures of all persons questioned or apprehended in the case, to send to police officers and officials in other states.
However, he has not been assigned permanently to the Massillon barracks yet. It is thought he might succeed Corp. Grossglus at Massillon. The latter was named as special investigator for Stark County Prosecutor Barthlemeth a week ago.
State Patrolman Richard I. Governor of Salem, now on a 20-day vacation, is reported to have sent in his resignation to Col. Lynn Black at Columbus. He has secured other work.
Patrolman R. M. Perry is the only member of the patrol here at present. W. E. Arey, the fourth member, is still actively engaged in tracing clues in connection with Patrolman Conn's death.

"Bombs" Were Only Ordinary Corn Cobs

LISBON, Oct. 5.—The sticks of dynamite, or bombs, turned out to be corn cobs.
Deputy Sheriff Otto Stacey and Mike Duty, responding to an alarm that someone had thrown "bombs" at passing automobiles at the junction of Routes 7 and 30, southeast of here, last night, found nothing but corn cobs scattered about the road.
The offenders, probably boys having some fun, were gone.
East Liverpool police notified the sheriff's department after several motorists drove into the Ceramic City to complain.

Cleveland Woman Hurt On Route 45

Mrs. Robert Langel, 64, of Cleveland, suffered lacerations and bruises to her face and also received an eye injury when a truck operated by George Belles of Wellsville struck the automobile in which she was riding on the Lisbon road, near Eagleton's Glen, Monday afternoon.
Mrs. Langel, the only one of four occupants in the car injured, was admitted to the Central Clinic at 2:30 p. m. She was riding in a car driven by her daughter, Marian.
The truck was unhurt, Staje Patrolman R. M. Perry said.
Salem City hospital attaches said Mrs. Henry Buckman, of Beloit, struck by an automobile near Lisbon Sunday afternoon, would be taken home sometime today.

CHICAGO HEARS F. D. R. ATTACK WAR COUNTRIES

Tells 50,000 That Epidemic of World Lawlessness Is Spreading

DOES NOT MENTION NATIONS BY NAME

Asserts There Must Be Positive Endeavors For Peace

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—A demonstrative throng of midwest citizenry heard President Roosevelt rip into war-inclined nations today in sounding an emphatic world-girdling call for "concerted" action for restoration of universal peace.
Facing a crowd estimated to police at 50,000, gathered to watch him dedicate Chicago's outer link highway bridge, the chief executive, in a stirring plea for sanctity of treaties and sanity in international dealings, asserted:
"Demands 'Positive Endeavors'
"There must be positive endeavors to preserve peace."
He did not disclose what he had in mind in this direction but he hinted at measures which in effect would "quarantine" the militaristic "10 per cent" to protect the 90 per cent of the world population he described as peace loving.
"it seems unfortunately true," he asserted, "that the epidemic of world lawlessness is spreading.
"When an epidemic of physical disease starts to spread, the community approves and joins in a quarantine of the patients in order to protect the health of the community against the spread of the disease."
He said America, determined to stay out of war, would not remain aloof from these efforts, and, as if in reply to those who have been urging an American neutrality proclamation, declared:
"The peace-loving nations must make a concerted effort in opposition to those violations of treaties and those ignorances of humane instincts which today are creating a state of international anarchy and instability from which there is no escape through mere isolation or neutrality."
Without mentioning any nations by name, it was clear his indictment of aggressors for "definite" violations of agreements embraced the Sino-Japanese conflict, the Mediterranean submarine attacks, outside interference in the Spanish civil war, and possibly went as far back as the Japanese invasion of Manchuria and Italy's Ethiopian campaign.
He said the "present reign of

SCOUT SCHOOL WILL OPERATE

Leadership Training Group To Be Conducted This Winter, Probably at Lisbon

Columbiana county scoutmasters and assistant scout masters will attend a scout leadership training school this winter if tentative plans are completed.
Officials of the Columbiana County Boy Scout council, at a meeting at the scout reservation near Lisbon Monday night, discussed plans for the school. It is expected to start the latter part of this month.
Lisbon, as a central point in the county, has been selected as the place for the school.
The county scouters discussed possible activities for their boys and announced that a definite winter program would be mapped at a meeting early in November. Charles E. Felton, county scout executive, presided.
The Salem delegation at the meeting included Commissioner Eddie Howell and Floyd McQuilken and James McGiffin, assistant scoutmasters of troop No. 3 of the Presbyterian church, and Raymond Moff, assistant scoutmaster of troop No. 56 of the American Legion post.

THE WIDE, OPEN SPACES

This week the New York Yankees and the New York Giants will begin the world series for the baseball championship of the universe. It is, as everyone knows, the greatest drawing card in professional sport.

There's just one thing wrong with it. In New York City, where all the games are to be staged, there's a tendency to think that buffalo roam and antelope play west of New Jersey. The reverse side of the picture is the equally absurd idea, held by many millions living west of New Jersey, that New York City is somehow apart from the "wide, open spaces where the people live."

What major league baseball needs—to come to the point—is a world series in Cincinnati, or Cleveland, or Pittsburgh. It's beginning to look as though New York was not only the nation's capital in matters of finance, business, publishing and so forth, but in big league ball too—and that's bad for the "national" game.

TIME LIMIT

The Kentucky court of appeals has added one more complication to the proposed child labor amendment by ruling that it no longer is legally before the people. Its conclusions are that a state having once acted on a proposed amendment cannot thereafter change its vote without a resubmission of the question by congress. The child labor amendment, the court believes, was withdrawn from further consideration when more than one fourth of the states had rejected it.

This is the old argument of "reasonable time." The child labor amendment was submitted in June, 1924. In the case of the 18th, 20th and 21st amendments, congress set a time limit of seven years for ratification. On that basis, the child labor amendment ceased to be before the people six years ago. Certainly there is something absurd in the many reversals of judgment by state legislatures on the question.

Taking its cue from the Kentucky ruling, the country could deal more logically with the question by starting over again with a clean slate, setting a definite time limit for ratification.

ONCE IS ENOUGH

The principal topic of conversation over the weekend was, of course, Justice Black's speech last Friday night.

The upshot of a vast deal of discussion probably is something like this: That Mr. Black made the most of a bad case, but that the case was too tough to be won in the first place.

Another conclusion is common. It is that the controversy stirred up by Mr. Black's appointment will cause future court appointees to be examined microscopically. Hereafter, the executive and the senate will want to know everything.

This may be the silver lining in the cloud. President Roosevelt acted in haste when he appointed Mr. Black.

The President was right in assuming the senate would accept Mr. Black. It tried to be considerate of the feelings of a member by skimming over the question of his Klan connection. That was a risky thing to do. Mr. Roosevelt's hasty appointment was risky. The present controversy, which has reached such proportions that Mr. Black, himself, finally engaged in it, proves it was risky and shouldn't be repeated.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, October 6.

A day of much activity and probably surprising and intriguing events is presaged from the dominant planetary configurations. Certain peculiar or secret influences may make alertness, precaution, tact and diplomacy advisable. A quick turn in affairs may call for sudden decisions and journeys.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sudden changes, with alertness, quick decisions and moves instigated by curious or subtle circumstances. Shrewdness, tact and even collusion or secrecy may best turn these into profitable channels.

A child born on this day may be enterprising and practical, although it may have some restive, erratic or peculiar characteristics.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—No one knows the why of the Hawaiian orchestra vogue that jetted up so auspiciously this season. There was a craze for this plaintive type of music about 10 years ago but it did not last long. In about two months it had entirely vanished.

There were at one time this summer more than 100 Hawaiian orchestras in the greater city. Some say the renaissance was due to increased travel to the islands. And others thought it due to the Hawaiian movies and the songs that Bing Crosby bleated so often.

The first Hawaiian orchestra to gain fame in America was at Nat Goodwin's cafe, "The Ship," at Venice, California, about 20 years ago. But they were only pseudo-Hawaiians. Indeed, the leader was none other than the now celebrated song writer, Bud De Sylva.

Ziegfeld interpolated a Hawaiian scene with Gilda Gray in one of his follies and it made a tremendous hit on the road, but somehow never clicked big in New York. I like that jape that Hawaiians are always singing good-bye but never leaving.

Then the marimba bands which flourished about 15 years ago. Every smart night club such as Montmartre and Bustanoby's, had one as a sort of fill-in while the regular orchestra went out to smoke. Now there are only a few left, playing what remains of the vaudeville circuits.

Old time troupers are jubilant over the click of Sophie Tucker in the movies. She was the last Hollywood hold-out, and many believed there was some reason for it. That her voice would not register or she did not screen well. Sophie is an old timer, to be sure, but far from being washed up. She can, any time she desires, fill a night club in New York or London. There is a certain something about performers of Sophie's era, including, of course, her. They have a studied finish to every bit of routine. It is a polish that comes with vast experience and expertness in timing. So pronounced among such performers as Ted Lewis, Joe Jackson, Blossom Seeley and Bennie Fields and Al Jolson.

Among theater folk ten would have got you a hundred that two performers who would never marry were Lou Holtz and Clifton Webb. But Holtz went off the deep end the other week and while there are no indications of an altar romp by Webb, the Risiko wouldn't wager. Harry Richman seems, however, to be the most persistent of the marriage dodgers. Beginning with Clara Bow, he has been reputedly engaged to at least 50 charmers on the stage and in the cabarets. Only recently during a London engagement, one beauty crossed the ocean with a fanfare ostensibly, according to the public prints, to be Richman's bride. But she came back alone and the singer is still whole heart and fancy free. It's a good trick—if the lawyers only leave you alone.

It's a joy now and then along the Eating Trail to stop in at venerable Luchow's. Here Time seems to halt. One is back in the salad days where beer has a high collar and cabbage is red. There are no social climbers at Luchow's. Food is hearty—pig's knuckles, sauer kraut, stuff and things—and more leisurely, and wings of talk have a wider sweep. The waiters do their waiting methodically and with no special hurry, just as though they might be looking after a roomful of friends. Instead of rasping jazz and the shrieks of hi-de-hi there are the low dulcet strains perhaps of "The Blue Danube." Over there Al Smith, napkin tucked under chin, may be doing right by a bowl of noodle soup and yonder Fannie Hurst may be nibbling at cheese cake. Henry Mencken often comes in for his favorite brew. So does Theodore Dreiser. Luchow's has been there in the same dark-timbered decor for more than 50 years. It is one of the few things in town that has never changed.

An almost hysterical telephone caller—I suspect Gene Crowley—could scarcely make himself understood this morning. All of a sudden in the bath he was struck with a wonder. A wonder, at this late day, why Mary Pickford didn't rename her Hollywood home Pickfair "Doug-Out!"

Great poets, I have thought, in striving for lyrical beauty and effect, glossed Death with a sickliness not deserved. Nothing is more stirring or beautiful to read than Thomas Gray's elegy written in a country churchyard. Yet it plunges one into dolor. We are haunted by thoughts of mooping owls, beckoning shades and clinging, damp ivy.

HEALTH

Health Statistics

A RECENT bulletin issued by a life insurance company points out that the second decade of life is the period of best health and a time relatively free from fatal accidents. This statistical report is unusually interesting because it has been believed that a later period of life was the safest.

Improvements in medical treatment and a added facilities for the prevention of disease would appear to have brought about a notable change in the expectation of life and health. It will be interesting to note how closely the figures of this company are matched by the general conditions of the country. Anyhow, as will be seen, a great deal can be learned from them.

During the ages from one to four, influenza and pneumonia are the most common causes of death among children. Certain communicable diseases, the "catching" diseases, come second, and accidents third. This statement should serve as a warning to many who still believe that childhood diseases are rarely serious.

Early Dangers

During the period between five years and 19 years of age, accidents take first place. At this time of life, tuberculosis becomes a serious factor. It is the chief cause of death between the ages of 20 and 34 years. For individuals from 35 to 40, tuberculosis continues to be the first cause of death, while other disease, such as heart disease, cancer, influenza and pneumonia begin to take their toll.

Now we reach the so-called "degenerative diseases," which are most prevalent between the ages of 45 and 54. These are heart disease, cancer, influenza and pneumonia, chronic Bright's disease, tuberculosis and cerebral hemorrhage or apoplexy, in the order named.

Accident Toll High

In passing, it is of interest to note that during the age of 11, 27 per cent of all deaths arise from accidents, and about one-third of these are automobile accidents and accidental burns. The warning is unmistakable. This report shows most clearly that if we are desirous of further reducing the death rate, it is imperative that the most common accidents be guarded against more efficiently. This can only be accomplished by protection of the young from accidents at home and on the street.

UNCLE ABNER SAYS:

They say t' err is human but t' admit it ain't good politics.
Jed Willicker, Justice o' th' Peace, says lately he's bin runnin' a Marry-G-Round.

The enlistment of parents and public health officials in a crusade against these dangers would help materially. In addition, further control of the communicable diseases is essential if there is to be a decrease in the number of complications and deaths caused by these ailments. Let us join in this crusade and help to make safe more decades of life.

No Help At All

BALTIMORE, Md. — Boys at play knocked over a hornet's nest near the home of State Senator John D. C. Duncan and the senator called a bee expert, Charles H. Litzinger, for advice.

Litzinger was not much helped. His car ran over the upset nest, and he departed quickly.

He'll Recover

PETERSBURG, Ind.—Alfred D. Thompson gulped when a friend gave him a hearty slap on the back—and swallowed a mouthful of tacks.

Hospital physicians said he would recover. Thompson was using the tacks in his work at an automobile factory.

MEDDLERS HIT BY F. B. I. CHIEF

Convict - Coddlers, Silly Parole Boards Rapped By J. Edgar Hoover

(By Associated Press)
BALTIMORE, Oct. 5. — J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, blasted today at "interfering meddlers" who intercede for criminals and at "convict-coddling, sentimental, silly parole boards" who free prisoners unwisely.

He addressed the International Association of Chiefs of Police after Chief Leon V. Jenkins, of Portland, Ore., in the president's address opening the 44th annual convention, had taken the members to task for "trial and error" methods in handling strike disorders.

Hoover told the association about a citizen in the west who secured the release of a suspect, but found later that the man had spent most of his life in jail and was still wanted.

Call 'em On the Carpet

"There is not one of you who is not afflicted with this interfering sort of 'good fellow'," Hoover said. "I suggest that these interfering meddlers be called on the carpet and shown just what they have done to impede the efficiency of your department."

"One of our common foes in connection with proper law enforcement remains the administration of parole as it is practiced in too many of our states."

"Our parole scandals are un-American. It is a filthy betrayal of the American people to practice the easy, ill-considered release of dangerous felons—we must concentrate ourselves on a never-ending battle against this slimy, unwholesome and utterly reprehensible condition."

Newspapers, Hoover continued, are one of the policeman's "greatest aids and one of our best friends," although they are sometimes a stumbling block in the pursuit of a criminal.

In his address to the chiefs from every section of the United States, Latin America and Canada, Jenkins said "public disorders have never been given any real attention in our deliberations."

By Trial and Error
"It is practically impossible for a police chief to find out how to handle strikes except by trial and error."

"We need to do some straight thinking about the relations of agitators to strikes and other disorders. We all know that professional agitators have done and are doing much to cause strikes and riots."

"We have got to learn how to teach our police officers the proper attitude towards both sides in a controversy," Chief Jenkins continued. "We have got to study carefully

FIRE PREVENTION AND FIRE CIRCUMVENTION

There are two things to do about fire:

1. Prevent fire, by using every sensible precaution against it;
2. Circumvent fire, by keeping important papers, letters, securities, and other valuables in a safe deposit box out of its reach.

We urge the observance of Fire Prevention Week in this community. We also urge you to circumvent fire and save yourself from loss by renting a safe deposit box.

Officers And Committees Are Named By Book Club

Mrs. O. P. Ashhead, president of the Salem Book club, which inaugurated a new season yesterday at a meeting in the public library assembly, announced appointive officers and committees.

They include: Parliamentarian, Mrs. J. A. Fehr; moving picture chairman, Mrs. L. W. Matthews; critic (for three months), Mrs. Marie Wegert; auditing committee, Mrs. Robert Wilson and Dr. Sylvia Morron.

Mrs. C. E. McCluggage was named to serve as a member of the hospitality committee, replacing Mrs. G. R. Walsh, who will be unable to serve.

The resignation of Mrs. Carl Snell as a member of the club was accepted. Mrs. Snell and family will move soon to Cleveland, their former home, where they will make their residence. Two applications for membership were presented.

Will Attend Conference

Announcement was made that the club will be officially represented by its president, Mrs. Ashhead, at the annual fall conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs which will be held in Youngstown Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 26 and 27.

Initiation Conducted By Lisbon O. E. S.

Officers of Iva chapter, O. E. S., Lisbon, exemplified initiatory work at a meeting of Salem chapter No. 334 in the Masonic temple here last night. Special music for the evening was presented by Lisbon members who were presented the raveling gavel.

Following the chapter session, Salem members honored their past matrons and patrons in a special ceremony, with officers taking speaking parts. Matrons were presented lovely corsages of pastel-colored mums while the patrons received bouquets of the same flowers.

Miss Martha Baller sang "Love Divine", accompanied by Mrs. James Hill, and the Salem choir closed with several selections. A lunch was served during the social hour by the October committee in charge of Mrs. W. R. Pearce.

A special meeting will be held Oct. 18 for initiatory work.

Attend Party In Pittsburgh

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lafferre of Ohio ave entertained at a surprise party for her sister, Mrs. Ed Shook, Saturday night at the Shook residence in Pittsburgh.

The affair also honored another sister, Mrs. Margaret Fairfield of Salem, who observed her birthday anniversary.

The chief diversion was "500" in the men's division, high score went to Harry Smith; low to Ed Hook; in the women's group, high to Mrs. Leo McHugh and low to Mrs. Fairfield.

A coverd luncheon was served at the close of the playing.

Other guests from Salem included Mr. and Mrs. John Scullion; Mrs. Frank Scullion and Mrs. Frances Scullion. Present also were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Shook and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weiss of New Brighton; Mr. and Mrs. Leo McHugh and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. G. R. Deming Guild Hostess

Mrs. Harold B. Vincent of Lisbon was a guest at the meeting of the St. Agnes guild of the Church of Our Saviour, at the home of Mrs. J. R. Deming, South Lincoln ave., Monday afternoon.

The session, first of the new season, followed a luncheon at 1 p. m. Mrs. Walter Deming, vice president, was in charge in the absence of Mrs. L. W. King, president, who is ill.

General discussion of plans for the year was held, followed by cards.

Musical Culture Club To Meet

Musical Culture club, one of the junior music study groups of the city, will hold its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. L. D. Cessna, junior counsellor, South Lincoln ave., at 7:30 tonight.

Under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Theiss, club president, and Mrs. Cessna, plans will be discussed of the conference of the middle-east and northeast district junior clubs to be held here on Oct. 23.

Women's Bible Class To Have Tea

Presbyterian Women's Bible class members will entertain friends at a benefit tea from 2 to 5 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. A. C. Long, Lisbon rd. A program of entertainment is planned. The committee in charge includes Mrs. A. D. McFarren, Mrs. Mary Harwood, Mrs. John Ollman and Mrs. Sadie Shearer.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses have been issued at Lisbon to: Leroy C. McLaughlin and Edith Braham of Lisbon; Morris Cole and Pauline Kasher of East Liverpool; George Maria of Summittville and Beverly Blazy, Salineville.

Miss Margaret Mounts of East Fourth st., her sister, Mrs. Augusta Beale, and children, Walter, Jr. and Mary Georgine, of Cleveland, left yesterday for Miami, Fla., to spend the winter. They plan to visit in Washington, D. C., during the trip. Miss Mounts, Mrs. Beale and children, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mounts, will make their home with Mrs. Beale's father-in-law, Herman Beale, of Cleveland, who is there for the winter.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. W. V. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Brudery, secretary last year, assumed the duties. A meeting of the executive committee was called for 1:30 p. m. Monday, Oct. 18, prior to the next regular meeting of the group.

Mrs. Ashhead greeted members, expressing a wish for the continued success of the club, cooperation of the members in the work for the advancement of the organization.

The program on "Modern Vacations" opened with a highly interesting paper on "How the Auto Trailer is Affecting the Home." The paper, prepared by Mrs. Snell, was read by Mrs. George Frank.

Material for the paper was taken by its writer from various authoritative articles in recent periodicals. "The trailer," the paper pointed out, "which has been called only a gadget so far in its existence, is rapidly becoming a thing with which to reckon, in the matter of governing and protecting those who live in it, of educating their children and providing proper and sanitary facilities for them."

"Manufacturers of trailers prophesy a bright future for the traveling homes, which, however, do not seem to offer bright prospects for real estate firms, hotel proprietors, state highway and fire protection officials and legislative bodies which depend upon funds from home-owning taxpayers."

Music On Program

Miss Frances May Vincent, accompanied at the piano by Miss Anna Cook, entertained with two cornet solos, "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise" and "Neapolitan Night."

Concluding the program, Mrs. Ross Clay reviewed the James Wilson book, "Three-Wheeling Through Africa." The author and a companion tell the account of their trip by motorcycle through Africa. James Wilson and Francis Flood, after varied and diversified careers, leave Lincoln, Neb., travel to New York and embark on the first leg of their journey. Their arrival in Africa and their adventures throughout the trip are told in the book, interestingly reviewed by Mrs. Clay.

Tea will be served and an informal social hour enjoyed after the meeting on Oct. 18.

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roy John, south of Salem, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday at their home when 40 relatives held a surprise party in their honor.

Guests were from Warren, Akron, Alliance, Marlboro, North Georgetown and Salem. The couple received many lovely gifts. Lunch was served at a table centered with a large wedding cake topped with a bride and groom.

Elks Ladies Drill Team To Meet

All members of the Elks ladies' drill team are asked to be present at a meeting of the ladies' auxiliary at 8 tonight in the lodge room.

Member of Brady's Gang Believed Dead

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—Report that Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr., member of the Alfred Brady gang, of suspected bank robbers and killers, is dead were thrown into the farthing search for the elusive bandits today.

In a special dispatch from Noblesville, Ind., the Indianapolis Star said special officers assigned to the hunt expressed probability, after several days of investigation, that Shaffer "may be dead, possibly slain."

The newspaper said the officers based their belief primarily on the fact that the 21-year-old Shaffer has not been identified in recent bank robberies in Indiana and other states, attributed to the Brady gang.

"Also, we have positive information that an Indiana sweetheart of Shaffer has not heard from him for a long time," the Star quoted one of the officers as saying.

The paper said the officers have kept a close watch near the home of Shaffer's mother near Noblesville in the belief he may try to visit there.

Mob Fails to Find Negro Accused of Attacking Couple

(By Associated Press)

DOVER, Oct. 5.—Failing to find a 19-year-old Negro charged with attacking a white woman, a band of men, estimated by sheriffs deputies at between 150 and 200, dispersed early today after searching jails at Dover, New Philadelphia and Cadiz.

Learning the man had been arrested and spirited away to an unannounced destination as a precautionary measure by authorities, the crowd, during various stages of the chase, sped to jails in search of the Negro.

Swarming to the Tuscarawas county jail last night, the crowd demanded the surrender of the man. In the absence of her sheriff husband, Mrs. Wayne T. Host said she escorted representatives of the crowd through the jail to prove the man was not held there.

Previously they had sought the Negro at the city jail here.

A rumor the object of their search might be found at Cadiz sent the crowd off to the Harrison county jail in that city where Sheriff Elmo Mattern also permitted members of the group to go through that jail early this morning.

Charges of shooting to wound, assault and battery, attempted rape and rape were filed against the Negro, who gave the name of Vandy Lee Matthew.

Frank H. Javens, chief of police who filed the charges, said the victims, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lantzer, were attacked in a lonely section of the city.

Lantzer, who was beaten on the head with a shotgun when he attempted to fight off the assailant, was reported in a critical condition today. His wife was suffering from shock.

Theater Attractions

James Ellison, Marsha Hunt and Van Heflin, featured in "Annapolis Salute", at the State Wednesday and Thursday on a double bill.

Following "Varsity Show", which concludes tonight, the State theater offers an excellent double bill—a romance and a mystery—for Wednesday and Thursday.

A midshipman who endeavors to uphold the traditions of the U. S. Naval Academy, and one who scoffs at them, clash with each other until their love for the same girl brings about a series of adventures which eventually seal them in friendship, according to the dramatic story of "Annapolis Salute," romantic drama.

James Ellison is seen as a midshipman whose father, a petty officer in the navy, played by Harry Carey, is giving his son the training advantages he himself missed as a younger man, while Van Heflin portrays the role of a scion of a wealthy family who merely attends Annapolis to please a millionaire grandfather.

Marsha Hunt in Lead

Marsha Hunt enacts the feminine lead as the girl whose visit to the academy during June Week disrupts the school in general and the two feuding midshipmen in particular.

"Forty Naughty Girls," the detective thriller, brings the noted puzzle-solving team of Inspector Oscar Piper and Hildegard Withers to the screen for the sixth time and deals with two mysterious killings in a metropolitan theatre during a performance. Faced with the necessity of letting the show go on while they try to find the murderer, the two sleuths run into problems that tax the ingenuity of the audience as well as their own talents.

James Gleason, who has enacted the role of the cocky cigar-chewing Oscar in the five previous pictures based upon Stuart Palmer's famous detective characters, again plays the part in the new offering, with ZaSu Pitts once more using her intuitive faculties to solve the riddle.

"Billy the Kid"

An early talkie, which nevertheless still is considered as one of the finest pictures, is the King Vidor production "Billy the Kid", which will show Wednesday and Thursday at the Grand. The story relates the stirring happenings at Lincoln, New Mexico, during the famous "cattleman's war" of 1878, 1879 and 1880. The career of William Bonney during that time is the crux of the wildest point the wild west ever reached.

JAIL BREAKERS BOAST OF CRIME

Youths Who Fled From Summit County Picked Up In Circleville

(By Associated Press)

CIRCLEVILLE, Oct. 5.—Two natty youths who broke from the Summit county jail at Akron Sept. 17 were captured peacefully at 3 a. m. today by Circleville police, to whom they boastfully admitted a wild series of robberies in which they stripped the clothing from their victims.

The boys gave their names as James Evans, 19, of Chillicothe, and James Burbank, alias Bennett, 18, of Manchester, N. H.

They sauntered into an all night cafe in the center of Circleville this morning as Night Patrolmen Alva Shasteen and George Green were drinking coffee there.

Clothing Attracts Attention

Their identical clothing, brown ensembles of suits, shoes and hats, attracted the officers' attention.

The policemen quietly left and inspected a car which the boys had parked at the curb. Shasteen identified it as a machine stolen from Dayton Sept. 26.

Returning to the restaurant, the officers seized the two youths, taking a .32 caliber pistol from Burbank without difficulty.

Shasteen said the captives insolently disclosed their identity and related a series of robberies.

Shasteen said the pair told him they fled from the Summit county jail when a plumber left a door open, and that they walked directly to the Akron Y. M. C. A. where they asked the clerk to summon a taxicab.

OBERLIN HAILS ITS CENTENNIAL Anniversary of Co-educational Movement To Be Observed

OBERLIN, Oct. 5.—Co-education came to Oberlin college 100 years ago when four women, breaking precedent, enrolled in courses previously open only to men.
On Friday, educators, club women and alumni will commemorate Oberlin's centennial of co-educational movement in a program which will carry the history of women's entrance into education of the college level throughout the country in national radio hook-ups.
A gateway to an outdoor theater the Oberlin campus will be dedicated as a memorial to co-educational celebration. The memorial is the gift of R. T. Miller, Jr., Chicago, class of 1891, and president emeritus of the American schools.
Speakers for the observance include: Miss Mildred H. McAffee, president of Wellesley college and former dean of women at Oberlin;
Dr. Homer Price Rainey, Washington, D. C., director of the American Fourth commission; Dr. Ernest Hatch
Williams, president of Oberlin college, and Dr. Robert A. Millikan, class of 1897, president of the California Institute of Technology, who will speak over the radio from Berkeley.

Light-Footed
VINNIES, Ind.—Police today announced they had carried away a 2,000-pound safe as the world's most light-footed burglars.
The women took the safe, which contained several hundred dollars, from a tire service store a block from police headquarters. The store but operators said they heard no suspicious noises.

CHICAGO HEARS F. D. R. ADDRESS

Tells 50,000 That Epidemic of World Lawlessness Is Spreading

terror and international lawlessness" began a few years ago with the "unjustified interference in the internal affairs of other nations or the violation of treaties, and has now reached a stage where the very foundations of civilization are seriously threatened."

Speaking of more recent disorders, he continued: "Without a declaration of war and without warning or justification of any kind civilians, including women and children, are being ruthlessly murdered with bombs from the air."

"Without Cause Or Notice"
"In times of so called peace, ships are being attacked and sunk by submarines without cause or notice."

"Nations are fomenting and taking sides in civil warfare in nations that have never done them harm."

"Nations claiming freedom for themselves deny it to others."
"Innocent peoples and nations are being cruelly sacrificed to a greed for power and supremacy which is devoid of all sense of justice and humane consideration."

The President, near the end of the longest and most significant speech of his current coast-to-coast trip asserted America was "determined to keep out of war, yet we cannot insure against the disastrous effects of war and the dangers of involvement."

"We are adopting such measures as will minimize our risk of involvement, but we cannot have complete protection in a world of disorder in which confidence and security have broken down."

Represent "Low Church"
The opponents represent to a certain degree the so-called "low church" element among the Episcopals.

The "high church" group is differentiated from the "low church" mainly by its preference for elaborate exemplification of the church ritual and observance of sacred days on the holy calendar.

Hotels were filled and delegates and visitors were being quartered in private homes as thousands were poured into the city for the convention, which will continue through Oct. 20. Attendance is expected to total 25,000.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew, in a pre-convention session, heard Judge F. W. Dallinger of New York declare that "living today is fundamentally pagan."

Dr. Benjamin F. Pinney of Albany, Tenn., was reelected president of the brotherhood for a third term.

Other officers elected: James L.
Houghteling of Washington, first vice president; Courtenay Barber of Chicago, second vice president; Leon C. Palmer of Philadelphia, general secretary for a fourth term; Hayden C. Merrill of Philadelphia, treasurer; and the Rev.
Frank V. C. Fortune of Cleveland, chaplain.

Lindys Will Spend Christmas At Kent
(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Lindberghs have decided to spend another Christmas in the rambling, ancient, timbered house of Long Barn at Seven Oaks, Kent, the landlord revealed today.

Long Barn's owner, Harold G.
Nicolson, member of the house of commons, said Col. Charles A.
Lindbergh gave notice that he intended to remain "until after Christmas at least."

A friend once said, "If Lindbergh cracks his head a few times on the low doorways, he'll decide to move."
Whether or not the lank flyer cracked his head, he seems satisfied with the picturesque retreat.

Even the landlord, who resides at Sissinghurst castle, Kent, said he could not understand why the colonel is content to stay in drafty Long Barn during the winter.

The renting arrangement is quite informal. Nicolson originally offered the residence to the colonel to "stay as long as you like."

A real estate agent at Seven Oaks handles the rent. The colonel pays promptly. Neither the agent nor Nicolson give any thought or care concerning the colonel's pursuits there.

May Ask Dressen
To Manage Club

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 5.—
Plans for a conference with Charley Dressen, retiring manager of the Cincinnati Reds, were made known today by Fay Murray, president of the Nashville ball club.

Murray, scheduled to leave today for New York where he will attend the World Series, said his main reason for going was to persuade Dressen to manage the Vols next season.

Although the Vol chieftain did not say what he would offer the former Cincinnati pilot, it was understood the salary would be at least $10,000.

Dressen left Nashville to enter the National league at Cincinnati two years ago.

Conjunction Of Mars, Jupiter Attracting Local Star Gazers

If Salem had a Star Gazers club, the club members probably could keep well-posted on the events transpiring in the Heavens by S. N.
Van Blaricom, local astronomer.
Much of the beauty of the Heavens may be seen these nights, Van Blaricom discloses. The skies are clear and beautiful at this time of the year.

Conjunction of Planets
Star gazers, the astronomer points out, are interested at present in the gradual approaching conjunction of the planets Jupiter and Mars.

"This interesting event takes place every second year, due to the fact that Mars completes her course around the sun in 687 days while Jupiter takes 11 years, 320 days. Both planets are now in the constellation of Sagittarius Jupiter in the eastern edge and Mars on the opposite side. From 8 to 9 p. m.
this constellation is nearly due south, Jupiter being the brightest object in the heavens at this time it should not be difficult to recognize. The conjunction will take place near the end of October when Mars will have caught up with her sister planet and will pass her on her more hurried journey.

"If you will look over to the eastern horizon you will see a bright star just above the smoke and haze and on the same plane as the planets, we have been talking about. This will be the planet Saturn. (When seeking the plane of the planets, do not make the mistake of bringing your arc to the perpendicular, you must allow for the 23 degree inclination of the earth, which will bring you to the horizon farther to the north than you are apt to think it is.)"

They Don't Twinkle
"It will help you to recognize the planets if you will remember that they do not twinkle like the stars but give off a steady reflected light."

"Then if you care to, let's look about a bit and see what we can see. Look over to the west and far down on nearly the same plane as the planets and you will see that great red star, Antares, the jewel in the constellation Scorpio. You could put our Sun in the center of this star and the earth could assume its proper orbit about it and not come nearer than 30 million miles of the outer rim."

Over in the north west about half way between zenith and horizon is the great star Arcturus from which they collected enough light and heat to create an impulse sufficient to start the machinery of the world's fair in Chicago in 1933.

Vega Overhead
Immediately over our head is the beautiful star Vega which astronomers tell us will be the north star of this planet some twelve thousand years hence. Nearby and to the east of Vega is the great Northern Cross in the constellation Cygnus.

You will find the cross directly in the milky way. If you have read thus far, and looked until 9 p. m.
if you will look over to the east just about mid-distance on the horizon you will see our old friend the Pleiades just peeping out of the smoke and haze of the eastern horizon.

He has come to look us over for the length of the winter, and to those familiar with the coming and going of our friends the stars, his coming suggests frost on the pumpkin; winter coal and warmer undies. That, to us, is one of the pleasing things about our friends the stars, they do not stay to wear out their welcome. They are with us for about five months and then go away to visit the peoples of the other side of the world."

DEATHS

YANKS AND GIANTS HOLD FINAL SERIES DRILLS

Salem High Gridders Take To Road For First Time Of Season This Week

QUAKERS BATTLE EAST LIVERPOOL IN COUNTY TILT

Salem Must Stop Kinsey To Win Over Potters Friday Night

Scheduled for only three out-of-town games during the current football season, Salem High school's Quakers leave their home lair for the first time this week, traveling to the southern end of the county to engage East Liverpool High school's Potters at Patterson stadium Friday night.

The Quakers will not be back on their home lot until Friday, Oct. 22 when they will meet Wellsville at Rely stadium. The Friday following the East Liverpool tussle they will journey to Struthers for their second tilt on foreign ground.

Winner over Salem for the past two years, the Potters will be seeking their third straight victory, a feat they have never been able to accomplish in 23 years of gridiron relationship with the Quakers.

The last two games between the two county rivals were won by the Potters with scores of 6 to 0 in 1935 and 19 to 0 in 1936. Both contests were played under sloppy conditions with steady rain menacing the attacks of the teams.

Despite the fact that Liverpool has won for two years in a row, the Quakers still hold an edge in the series, having won 11 games to the Potters' 10. Three contests between the teams have ended in a tie.

The Potters' record so far this season lists two victories and one defeat. They have conquered Lisbon and East Palestine and lost to Akron West. Salem has won one game and tied one, defeating Sebring, 14 to 0, in the opener and tying Ravenna, 13 to 13, last Friday.

Botting up the running and passing of Marvin Kinsey, 155-pound senior halfback, is the main task facing the Quakers if they hope to stop the Potters.

Kinsey, a letterman from last year's team, is the leading offensive threat of the Liverpool eleven, being exceptionally dangerous on end sweeps and pass throwing.

Lewis F. Smith, former Salem coach, who is now scouting for the Quakers, reports that Liverpool showed more strength in losing to Akron West last week than the 14 to 0 score indicates.

The Potters had the pep taken out of them in the first period, Smith said, when one of their backs fumbled on the one-yard stripe and lost a touchdown chance. This stroke of ill luck took some of the punch out of East Liverpool's drive, but, regardless, the Potters out-gained their Akron opponents, 256 yards to 252.

Smith's observation was that the Quakers will have to stop Kinsey before entertaining any hopes of winning. He said that the clever passing and end running of the Liverpool halfback was the big feature of the game.

Coach Joe Morbitto will undoubtedly remake his offensive attack for the Quakers invasion, probably stressing more pass plays since the Red and Black was weak on pass defense against Ravenna last week.

Providing their aerial defense gets up this week, the Quakers stand a chance of tackling East Liverpool onto their victory list. The Red and Black forward wall looked good against Ravenna, and if it can produce an equal performance this Friday, the East Liverpool running attack should be stopped.

FRANK JULIAN IN MAT MATCH

Meets Whitie Grovro At East Palestine Friday Night

EAST PALAISTINE, Oct. 5.—Frank (Tony) Julian, 280-pound giant and former Salem High school football player, will appear against Whitie Grovro, 240-pounder of Minneapolis, in the semi-final of a three match wrestling card at the K. of C. hall here Friday night.

Julian, who is working for Al Hart of Columbus and grappling under the name of Juliano, is ranked as one of the most promising of the newcomers in the "grunt and groan" game.

His match with Grovro, who is a former Green Bay professional football star, will be two out of three falls, 45 minutes duration. Grovro has grappled with such outstanding stars of the mat as George Zaharias, Strangler Lewis and others.

Meeting in the main go will be Wheeler of Salt Lake City and Dutch Schultz of Texas. This match will be a 90-minute, two out of three fall affair.

George Wagner, 175, of New York and Bob Blake, 182, of Columbus will square off in the prelim. The first match will start at 8:15.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Looks like Gomez and Hubbell in the opener St. Louis Cardinals have signed a young pitcher named Jack Card from Ogden, Utah. His first pitching effort was a no run, no hit and 23 batters whiffed. Sacramento will be glad to see him next spring. Ossie Solem of Syracuse shares honors with Tiny Thornhill of Stanford as the biggest football coach in the biz. Ossie stands six foot, four and tips the old beam at 235. Doesn't smoke, chew or swear (quite a guy) and the only way his boys can tell he's on edge is by a different pitch in his voice.

Mebbe Pitt's opponents can chuckle this one off: When the Panthers made a short jump to Morgantown to play West Virginia, two guys who played 20 minutes each in the Rose Bowl last January weren't considered good enough to go. Also, another boy who played in the 1935 Rose Bowl game, can't make the traveling squad now. and Jock Sutherland continues to bowl (with five leaves of bread under each arm). Oh, oh.

Highest paid athlete in the world series will be Jack Saltzgraver, Yankee utility infielder. He has been at bat only 11 times this season, but will get a full share of the series loot.

A penny for Bernie Bierman's thoughts. when the family of Lyle Rockenbach, Michigan State guard, attends a football game, they reserve an entire section. Lyle has six brothers and seven sisters, plus a couple of parents, aunts, uncle, etc. Coach Charlie Bachman, who issues the "comps," has asked the Rockenbachs to come in installments.

Jimmi Thompson, an old pal of sports writing days in sunny Carolina, takes office as city councilman at Greenville, S. C., tonight. Besides his civic duties, Jimmy keeps busy working as reporter for the Greenville Piedmont, doing a daily sports broadcast, serving as publicity director for Furman university and a treasurer of the Southern Sports Writers' association. and after hours plays the meanest game of poker in South Carolina.

Winning the first three games of the minor league classic at Newark, the Red Birds had an idea that the "best of seven" series was in the bag. But the Bears bounced right back Saturday night to beat the Birds 8 to 1 on the local lot and last night they did it again, 1 to 0.

The Birds still are leading, three games to two, but after getting but one run in the last 19 innings, and with the prospect of facing Vito Tamulis, Bear pitcher who won 18 and lost 6 during the regular season, the home town boys aren't so sure Newark won't tie it up tonight.

Atley Donald, tall right-hander who won 19 and lost two during the international loop runaway, and then was batted from the hill by the Birds in the sixth frame of the second game of the series, halted Columbus with three hits last night to gain the set's first shutout. He needed the shutout, too, for Max Macon, the eccentric left-hander, allowed the Bears but one run.

The lone tally came in the second frame when Hersherberger, Bear catcher, singled and stole second, and came home on Gordon's single with two out. The inning before, the Newark clogged the sacks with none out on three straight hits, but Macon worked out of that one without damage.

During the last seven frames only 24 Bears faced Macon, and two of those who got on base were snuffed out on double plays. But Donald bettered that record, as only 31 men faced him in the full game, three getting singles and one a base on balls. All four were stranded and only one got as far as second base. King reaching the keystone in the ninth with two out only to die there as Rizzo skied out to center.

NEWARK AGAIN DEFEATS REDS

Columbus Team Loses To Bears Second Time In Minor Series

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Oct. 5.—The Columbus Red Birds, champions of the American association, had somewhat of an inking today of how and why the Newark Bears, their opponents in the little world series, won the international league flag by a 2½-game margin.

After winning the first three games of the minor league classic at Newark, the Red Birds had an idea that the "best of seven" series was in the bag. But the Bears bounced right back Saturday night to beat the Birds 8 to 1 on the local lot and last night they did it again, 1 to 0.

Yankees' Lineup To Be Same As One Which Swamped American League Rivals; Cliff Melton Is Key Man In Giants' Series Hopes

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Yankees and the Giants, both fit and both confident they hold a fistfull of aces, hold their final workouts early this afternoon, and at 1:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow they smack into each other in the second straight "Subway Series."

Two more substantial, complacent ball clubs probably never met in a World Series since the annual fall follies were inaugurated in 1903. Neither appears to be unduly excited nor awed, but, just the same, the series promises to be hard-fought and exciting every foot of the way.

The battle lines are definitely drawn, pending a last-minute change by Manager Bill Terry of the Giants or Joe McCarthy of the Yanks. Carl Hubbell, the Oklahoma farmer, will try to win his third straight series opener for the Giants, and Vernon (El Goofy) Gomez, another leftist, will toil for the Yanks.

They are perhaps the leading southpaws in the game, and the prospect of a thrilling duel between them has led optimistic club officials to hope to break the World Series attendance record of 66,669 set at the stadium a year ago. Indications today, however, were that the opening day attendance would not be much more than 50,000.

The Yanks' lineup is settled for the series with the same array that swamped the American league under a deluge of base-hits, except that hard-hitting George Selkirk has recovered from a mid-season hurt just in time to take over his right field post. He, with Joe DiMaggio, Lou Gehrig and Bill Dickey, comprise the backbone of the Yankees' devastating attack.

The Giants, who are the weaker-hitting outfit and therefore compelled to consider every possible angle in their struggle for runs, will do considerable shifting about. Against Gomez tomorrow they will have big Hank Leiber, right-handed power hitter, playing center field and batting cleanup. When Red Stuffing, a right hander, takes the hill for the Yanks in the second tussle, Lou Chiozza will be in the middle pasture for the Giants, with Jimmy Rippel batting fourth.

Terry, who has so far recovered from his influenza that he took a few cuts at the plate in yesterday's practice, has delegated the veteran Gus Mancuso to catch both Hubbell in tomorrow's game and Slim Melton in the second game. Harry Danning is slated to catch Hal Schumacher in the third.

All of which indicates the essential difference between the two New York teams. The Yanks are set to slug it out on their customary lines. The Giants are going to play it "cute" and fight for a run at a time, placing their trust in Hubbell, Melton and Schumacher to curb the enemy.

The key man of the series, with all due respect to Hubbell, is very likely to be Melton, the tall, hungry-looking mountaineer known to his teammates as "Mickey Mouse." If Melton, a 20-game winner in his first season, throttles the Yankee batters in the second game, then it's anybody's series, and probably the Giants'.

"THE SILVER ROD MYSTERY"

by Lewis Allen Browne

SYNOPSIS

Gerard Monteth, wealthy, aged 50, is killed mid-afternoon on the library porch of his home. His niece, Mary, was at a lawn party at the Forrest place, adjoining Forrest's son-in-law, Stevenson, a writer of crime mystery novels, is asked to help solve the crime. He learns that Monteth was killed by a trick knife, disguised as a silver rod, that hung on the library wall. It was hanging there when they got to the place and the dead man was out on the porch. He could never have walked in and replaced it. Mary, it is learned, was told by her uncle that she must marry Forrest's son, David, or be disinherited. She left the party that afternoon. Howard Griswold, whom Mary secretly loves, was also on the Monteth grounds. A new maid, Nola Morin, tells of seeing Brauman, the gardener, peering through the screen door. Nola was seen in the library about the time of Monteth's death. A Professor Lardau was seen in the grounds. He is an art dealer. A painting of no apparent value is missing.

CHAPTER IX

Foxcroft returned with Mary. She looked at me appealingly as she entered. I guessed that she was wondering if I had told them about Howard Griswold.

"Mary," Foxcroft said, "look about the library and see if anything is missing."

Mary looked first at us. I thought she was clever in doing this. She thought we might be staring in the direction where the object was missing. But we were looking at her. She looked around the room several times.

"The furniture is here—is it a small object? I don't see how—"

She walked across the room and pointed at the spot where the painting had been hanging.

"Where is the Van Dyck copy?" she asked.

"We don't know, Mary, but we think we know who took it. What do you know about it?" Foxcroft asked.

She wheeled, her eyes wide with excitement, drew up a chair to the end of the library table and sat down.

"Was the man you suspect of taking it, quite short, with long hair and pince nez and a black ribbon?" she asked.

Sergeant Harper grunted with surprise and sat up straight. Foxcroft and myself exchanged puzzled glances.

"He was short and had long hair; I don't know about the glasses and ribbon. Who is he, Mary?"

"That I don't know. It was only a few days ago that I saw him in the library with Uncle Gerry. They came out on the library porch and this odd-looking man had that old painting."

"Where were you?" Harper's voice gave a hint of suspicion. Foxcroft scowled at him. Mary caught it and flashed him an angry glance.

"I was getting some clusters of climbing roses, for the luncheon table. I glanced at the man because he was odd looking and seemed to be excited as he examined the picture."

"Did you overhear any conversation?" I asked her.

"Not intentionally. I am not an eavesdropper, Mr. Stevenson."

"This made me squirm. It reminded me of what I had overheard between Mary and her uncle not so many hours before this."

"Oh come, Mary," Foxcroft pleaded, "we are trying to solve this thing. I am sure—"

"Sorry," Mary looked at me and smiled. "I did overhear a little. Let me think—Oh yes, the little man said something about twenty-five thousand dollars."

"What?" Harper exclaimed.

"That was the sum," Mary was quite calm again. "Uncle Gerry laughed. I heard the word 'non-sense' and something about 'cop and 'not worth three hundred'."

"Was that all?" Harper asked.

Mary nodded. "At luncheon Uncle Gerry spoke of him. He called him a fat little fool and said that he could have cheated him out of a lot of money."

"That the man evidently thought his Van Dyck copy to be genuine. He said the painting was given him years ago as a reward of merit."

"Are you sure?" I exclaimed.

Mary regarded me with surprise, because I had leaped to my feet when she said that.

"Why yes, Mr. Stevenson. I am positive that he said the picture was a copy, that it wasn't worth much, and that it was given to him years ago as a reward of merit. I asked him what he had merited."

Mary pointed at the spot where the painting had been hanging.

"What did he say to that?"

"He laughed and said it was nothing worth discussing. That meant that he wouldn't talk about it. I knew him so well that I asked no more questions."

"This don't seem to be getting us anywhere. We ought to be out after that professor. He looks like the party we want most," Sergeant Harper said.

"It may get us somewhere, Sergeant," I told him, and turned to Mary. "Do you remember what you told me about that silver rod?" I asked.

"I told you all I knew about it," she shuddered. "I didn't know that it was a weapon. I supposed it to be just what it was; a sort of ornament, a silver rod."

"I know; but you told me something else about it—something you said that Mr. Monteth told you."

"Why yes! Oh—how strange! I never would have connected it. Uncle Gerry once told me that the silver rod was given to him as a reward of merit."

"What's that?" Foxcroft exclaimed. He got the connection at once. Sergeant Harper was trying to understand what we were driving at.

"The silver rod, Mr. Monteth once said, was given him as a reward of merit. The stolen painting, he also said, only a few days ago, was given to him as a reward of merit."

"I'll be damned!" Harper exclaimed.

"A supported art object given to Mr. Monteth as a reward of merit, years ago, was used as a weapon to kill him. A painting, given him years ago as a reward of merit, is stolen from the wall the same day. What do you make of it?"

"They stared at me. Mary brushed her hand across her forehead and said, 'It is uncanny, but I cannot make any sense out of it.'"

"Nor I," Harper agreed.

"There must be some connection," Foxcroft pointed out.

"It looks to me," I said, "like a safe bet that the man who stole one object that was a reward of merit to Mr. Monteth, would know about another object that was also a reward of merit."

"Sure!" Harper banged the table. "He would know that the silver rod on the wall was a dagger. He could use it, slip the hidden blade back, hang it on the wall again and go away, feeling that the weapon would never be found."

We thanked Mary and she was about to go when Davidson came with a telegram for her. She opened it and read it, standing in the library doorway. We watched her keenly.

The woman was Mary. The man, I felt certain, was Griswold!

Bargains are plentiful. The ads will tell you where.

She must have felt that we wanted to know about it, for she placed the telegram on the table.

"It is from Aunt Alice—Mrs. Stapleton," she said. "I wired her as soon as I learned about—Uncle Gerry. She is in Chicago."

"Which aunt?" I asked.

"The only one I have; Uncle Gerry's sister. She is flying on at once."

"Good; she can tell us many things about her brother, I am sure. Now Mary, keep all the servants right on as usual. If any insist on leaving, don't argue. The grounds are guarded. Anyone trying to leave will be stopped."

"The grounds guarded?" Mary seemed to be frightened. "Is that necessary?"

"Sure," Harper said, gruffly. "By this time it was dark. We agreed to meet at Major Forrest's at nine that night to go over everything and put our notes in order."

They started to question me at dinner at the Forrest's but my father-in-law came to my rescue.

"Harley will tell us all he can without questions, and you can't drag any more out of him," he told them.

All I could tell them was that we seemed to have too many clues, but expected something to develop within another day.

I strolled out on the grounds alone, with my pipe, to think it all over before Foxcroft and Harper came back for the conference. I did not intentionally go toward the stile, but merely walked about. Then I saw someone beyond the stile, a woman. I stood still. A man came up through the Forrest grounds and went through the stile. Evidently the Monteth grounds were not as well guarded as Harper thought. I crept up back of the rhododendrons until I could recognize them.

The woman was Mary. The man, I felt certain, was Griswold!

DAMASCUS

A social was held at the Friends church Thursday evening after prayer meeting. The event was in honor of members who are leaving for the winter.

A prayer of thanks was given by Rev. I. L. Kinsey and a lunch served by the young people.

The program was: Vocal solo, Mrs. Margaret Chambers; original poem to Miss Elizabeth Steer, Mrs. C. L. Cosand; xylophone solo, Eleanor Stanley; talk, "Advice to those leaving and encouragement to those who are left," Rev. A. N. Henry, pastor.

Responses were given by Rev. H. C. Phillips, Mrs. Irena Ellett, Fred Chambers and Miss Elizabeth Steer.

A welcome was extended to Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Peoples, former Methodist pastor and wife who have moved here from Waynesburg.

Closing prayer was by Mrs. C. A. Ellett. A social time was enjoyed.

Rev. W. J. Fyock of Alliance gave an address at the observance of Booster night at Garfield grange Thursday evening. Rev. Fyock also sang a solo. Harold Smith gave a violin solo accompanied by Fred Smith of Salem on the piano.

Doris Elaine Barcus of Garfield gave a dance number.

Nude Photography In Posture Course Develops Comment

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Oct. 4. — A candid camera's role in higher education, with photographs of co-eds in the nude, commanded public interest today.

Following newspaper accounts of photography as practiced to correct posture at Wayne university, civic comment developed.

Promises of inquiry were made by two city board of education members, one a woman and one a man.

As explained by Dr. Irvin W. Sander, health service director at Wayne university, the pictures are made with the subjects making themselves to conceal identity. A nurse is present.

What follows is a study of the photograph, made against a chart, to determine incorrect bearing, and exercises for improving the posture.

Dr. Sander, expressing astonishment at publicity when "this procedure has been so long in use at leading universities," said "many hundreds" of students have been photographed at Wayne since the project was begun in February and "only three" objected.

The non-compulsory service is available to men students as well, but it was the co-ed part of it which aroused comment.

Such photography, said Dr. Margaret Bell, head of the women's health service at the University of Michigan, one of the schools named by Dr. Sander as doing that work, is "routine" at virtually all colleges.

WINONA

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church met Sept. 30 at the home of Mrs. E. A. Fuhr.

The following committees were appointed for the coming year: Prayers, Mrs. L. J. Mouniz, Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. Ernest Walton and Mrs. Don Mayhew; apportioning, Mrs. S. H. Bennett, Mrs. L. S. Cope, and Mrs. Arthur Loudon; membership, Mrs. Earl Ruble, Mrs. Charles Hoopes, Mrs. R. C. Coppock and Mrs. L. A. Weaver; reporter, Mrs. Richard Stamp.

Plans were made for the annual chicken supper to be served the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 20. Mrs. Mayhew and Mrs. L. S. Cope will be in charge of the tickets. A coverdish dinner was enjoyed by the 17 members present. Rev. O. A. Kelly conducted the devotions.

"The Power and Influence of the Christ," taken from 1st John 2-6, was the topic of the sermon preached Sunday morning at the Methodist church by Rev. O. A. Kelly. Special music was given by Misses Verna and Vera Barber. Mr. and Mrs. Eyster and granddaughter, Miss Lois Ann Burton, of Goshen township, and Mr. and Mrs. Baker of Guilford were guests.

Grange Has Inspection

Guilford grange held "Inspection night" at the regular meeting Saturday evening. Mark Borton conducted the inspection of the regular grange and Mrs. Borton that for the Juvenile branch. The degree team administered third and fourth degrees and four new members were initiated.

The following program was given during the lecture hour: A play by the Frank Baker family, "Eat It and Like It," reading by Mrs. Herman Gray, "In Grandmother's Attic," and a debate, "Are insects more of a menace to farmers than weeds?" by Walter Vincent and Austin Raley. A tableau, "School Days," was given by the Juvenile grangers. Games and a square dance were enjoyed after the program.

Camp's school P.-T. A. will meet Friday, Oct. 15, instead of on the regular date. It is announced.

Election of officers will be a feature of the first P.-T. A. meeting of the current year at the Winona Brick school Friday evening, Oct. 8.

The adult educational class scheduled for last Thursday will be held at the Primary school house Thursday evening.

Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Woolman entertained at a family dinner Sunday, given in honor of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Woolman, of Los Angeles, Calif. Those attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Polard and family of Oil City, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Thomas and family of Adena were Sunday guests of Mrs. Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hall.

Miss Eva Ronsall and brother Lewis of Pasadena, Calif., were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Oliphant Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hall and son Dean of Barnesville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hutton. Emory Holloway left Sunday morning for Toledo to join the "John Dur" dealers' tour to Noling, Ill., and Waterloo, Iowa. He will be gone a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Stanley and family of Salem visited relatives in Winona Sunday.

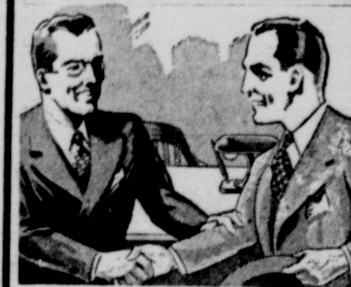

Mice Like Stamps

HOUSTON, Tex.—Liquor Dealer M. Robinson wants Canada to change the formula of the glue it puts on liquor stamps. He said mice had licked the mucilage from all Canadian stamps in his store, but had not molested stamps of other countries.

Other stores disclosed the same thing had happened to their Canadian stamps.
